Splitting Bills Easier

Authors: Colby Aderhold, Yousef Afshar, Wesley Freshwater,
Anton Aarnink

Problem Statement

Users want a better way to be able to split checks and bills in groups as it can be tedious or difficult to do so in many places. We provide a solution that better allows users to handle cost sharing.

Who is affected by the problem?

People who go out often with friends or have an active social life, mainly teens and young adults.

What is the problem itself?

Splitting bills is an inconvenient process for both the user and the business, taking up time.

Where does the problem occur?

At restaurants, bars, grocery stores, etc. Anywhere where groups find themselves making purchases.

Why does it matter?

People desire their social experiences to be simple and maximize their time well.